Summer has arrived, at least as far temperatures are concerned. The ski and board equipment is packed away, and golf equipment is out. But planning for next year's ski season is underway.

On May 20, several board members attended the annual CMSC Trip Seminar in Chicago. There were some educational meetings in the morning. The long and short, expect prices to go up next season. What else is new? In one session we talked about club financial software packages and payment options. A lot of clubs are starting to take credit cards, but that is an added cost as well.

The exhibitor portion consisted of several ski areas with booths to talk about what is new. Ski Brule, Sunburst, and Marquette were there to talk about new developments. For out west, Vail was conspicuously absent, but Aspen, Copper, Steamboat, Whitefish were all there. From Canada, Sun Peaks and Banff were there as well.

Our focus this year will be on Aspen. We are still waiting for proposals at this time, but we should have them in the next week, without air. Air is problematic and will be perhaps until August before we can nail that down. So stay tuned for announcements on that front. We are looking at late March for this.

We are still waiting for information from Snow River (formerly Indianhead/Blackjack) to get our Midwest trips put together. At Sly Fox, our next event is a meet-up at Ledgestone winery on Wednesday, June 14, from 3 to 9 pm, there will be live music, food and beverages for sale, in a relaxing outdoor environment. See the info on Page 4 of this newsletter. Hope to see you there.
